Summary Technical Description of the Woods & Poole Economics, Inc. 2012 Regional Projections and Database

Introduction

The Woods & Poole Economics, Inc. database contains more than 900 economic and demographic variables for every county in the United States for every year from 1970 to 2040. This comprehensive database includes detailed population data by age, sex, and race; employment and earnings by major industry; personal income by source of income; retail sales by kind of business; and data on the number of households, their size, and their income. All of these variables are projected for each year through 2040. In total, there are over 200 million statistics in the regional database. The regional model that produces the projection component of this database was developed by Woods & Poole. The regional projection methods are revised somewhat year to year to reflect new computational techniques and new sources of regional economic and demographic information. Each year, a new projection is produced based on an updated historical database and revised assumptions.

The fact that the proprietary Woods & Poole economic and demographic projections rely on a very detailed database, makes them one of the most comprehensive county-level projections available. A description of some characteristics of the database and projection model is contained in this chapter.

Overview of the Projection Methods

The strength of Woods & Poole's economic and demographic projections stems from the comprehensive historical county database and the integrated nature of the projection model. The projection for each county in the United States is done simultaneously so that changes in one county will affect growth or decline in other counties. For example, growth in employment and population in Houston will affect growth in other metropolitan areas, such as Cleveland. This reflects the flow of economic activity around the country as new industries emerge or relocate in growing areas and as people migrate, in part because of job opportunities. The county projections are developed within the framework of the United States projection made by Woods & Poole. The U.S. projection is the control total for the 2012 regional projections and is described in the "Overview of the 2012 Projections" chapter included in Woods & Poole publications.

The regional projection technique used by Woods & Poole — linking the counties together to capture regional flows and constraining the results to a previously determined United States total — avoids a common pitfall in regional projections. Regional projections are sometimes made for a city or county without regard for potential growth in surrounding areas or other areas in the country. Such projections may be simple extrapolations of recent historical trends and, as a result, may be too optimistic or pessimistic. If these county projections were added together, the total might differ considerably from any conceivable national forecast scenario; this is the result of each regional projection being generated independently without interactive procedures and without being integrated into a consistent national projection.

Woods & Poole Economics, Inc. is a small, independent corporation that specializes in long-term county economic and demographic projections. Woods & Poole's database for every county in the U.S. contains projections through 2040 for more than 900 variables.

The methods used by Woods & Poole to generate the county projections proceed in four stages. First, forecasts to 2040 of total United States personal income, earnings by industry, employment by industry, population, inflation, and other variables are made. In the 2012 Woods & Poole model the U.S. forecast included an estimate of the lingering impact of the 2008-09 recession using preliminary employment data for 2010 and 2011 from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Second, the country is divided into 179 Economic Areas (EAs) as defined by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA). The EAs are aggregates of contiguous counties that attempt to measure cohesive economic regions in the United States (a list of all EAs and their component counties can be found in Appendix 6 following this chapter); in the 2012 Woods & Poole model, EA definitions released by the BEA in May 2007 are used. For each EA, a projection is made for employment, using an “export-base” approach; in some cases, the employment projections are adjusted to reflect the results of individual EA models or exogenous information about the EA economy. The employment projection for each EA is then used to estimate earnings in each EA. The employment and earnings projections then become the principal explanatory variables used to estimate population and number of households in each EA.

COUNTY NON-BASIC SECTOR PROJECTIONS

The third stage is to project population by age, sex, and race for each EA on the basis of net migration rates projected from employment opportunities. For stages two and three, the U.S. projection is the control total for the EA projections. The fourth stage replicates stages two and three except that it is performed at the county level, using the EAs as the control total for the county projections.

County Definitions

The county definitions and county-equivalent definitions used in the Woods & Poole database are defined by the BEA. In New England, counties were created by summing townships and creating county-equivalent areas. Parishes in Louisiana, Boroughs in Alaska, and Independent Cities in Maryland, Missouri, and Nevada are called counties in the Woods & Poole database. In some states, notably Virginia, counties exist with independent cities. In cases where boundaries between counties and independent cities (or counties and other counties) have changed since 1969, new county groups are created to maintain the consistency of the historical data. Table 1 lists all the special county groupings in the Woods & Poole database.

Broomfield County Colorado (FIPS 08014) is a new county created after the 2000 Census from portions of Boulder, Adams, Jefferson and Weld counties; it is not included separately in the 2012 Woods & Poole database.

Federal Information Processing Standards (FIPS) codes are defined by the National Institute of Standards and Technology to give numeric “names” to geographic areas such as states and counties. Each state has a two-digit FIPS code (Alabama is 01 and Wyoming is 56) and counties have five-digit codes with the first two digits being the state code: Autauga AL is 01001 and Weston WY is 56045.

Areas (CSAs), Micropolitan Statistical Areas (MICROs), and Metropolitan Divisions (MDIVs) in the Woods & Poole database are as defined in the December 2009, Office of Management and Budget (OMB BULLETIN NO. 10-02), Update of Statistical Area Definitions and Guidance on Their Uses.

All Woods & Poole historical data back to 1969 is revised to reflect the new 2009 OMB Metropolitan Area (MSA, CSA, MICRO, and MDIV) definitions. There are 366 MSAs, 125 CSAs, 576 MICROs, and 29 MDIVs in the 2012 Woods & Poole database. All Core Based Statistical Areas (CBSAs) are included in the Woods & Poole database; CBSAs are MSAs or MICROs and CBSA is a collective term for both of these geographies. A list of all CSAs, MSAs, MICROs, and MDIVs and their component counties can be found in Appendices 2, 3, 4 and 5, respectively. These Appendices follow this chapter and begin on page 40. Although CSAs can be defined in terms of MSAs and MICROs, in the Woods & Poole database, and in Appendix 2, they are defined in terms of counties.

New England City and Town Areas (NECTAs) and Combined New England City and Town Areas (CNECTAs) are not in the Woods & Poole database because they are defined with geographic units smaller than counties. The 19 MSAs, CSAs, and MICROs in Puerto Rico are also not included in the Woods & Poole database.

MSAs, as defined by the OMB, have at least one urbanized area of 50,000 or more population, plus adjacent territory that has a high degree of social and economic integration with the core as measured by commuting ties. Micropolitan Statistical Areas – a new set of statistical areas – have at least one urban cluster of at least 10,000 but less than 50,000 population, plus adjacent territory that has a high degree of social and economic integration with the core as measured by commuting ties. The central cities that form the basis on MSAs and MICROs are generally included in their titles, as well as the name of each state into which the MSA or MICRO extends. MSAs and MICROs are defined in terms of whole counties (or equivalent entities), including in the six New England States. If the specified criteria are met, a MSA containing a single core with a population of 2.5 million or more may be subdivided to form smaller groupings of counties referred to as Metropolitan Divisions. MDIVs are not comparable to either MSAs or MICROs and should not be ranked together.

According to the OMB if specified criteria are met, adjacent MSAs and MICROs, in various combinations, may become the components of a new set of areas called Combined Statistical Areas. For instance, a CSA may comprise two or more MSAs, a MSA and a MICRO, two or more MICROs, or multiple MSAs and MICROs. In the Woods & Poole database CSAs are defined in terms of counties. According to the OMB combinations for adjacent areas with an employment interchange of 25 or more are automatic. Combinations for adjacent areas with an employment interchange of at least 15 but less than 25 are based on local opinion as expressed through the Congressional delegations.

Regions

The eight regions in the Woods & Poole database are aggregates of states and are defined by the Bureau of Economic Analysis. A list of all BEA regions and their component states can be found in Appendix 1 following this chapter. The BEA regions used by Woods & Poole differ from the nine regions defined by the Census Bureau and used in their publications.
